

POLICE CELLS, NOT CIRCUS, FOR THEM

Delicate Woman and Her Husband Locked Up for Making a Mistake.

Henry Hall and his wife, Rose, returned to their small, bare quarters in the big tenement at No. 163 Goethe street from the Jefferson Market Court today—wondering how a long anticipated joy had turned out only the dismal tragedy of a night in jail.

They did not show resentment at an arrest that was pronounced shameful even by the court hangers-on, who witness every day the results of some officious policeman's misguided zeal. Henry Hall and his wife, who is about to become a mother, were dragged to prison merely because they didn't understand.

They had set out to see the Barnum & Bailey circus, and while going about in the throng before the Madison Square Garden they became tangled in the line leading to the window of the Garden Theatre. The husband's English vocabulary is limited to a few words. His wife speaks only Yiddish. "I tell my wife," said Henry, to Magistrate Finn to-day, "I buy 50 cents in tickets. When I am by the window the man ask 60 cents. I buy anyhow." "Thought you'd be a sport," interpolated the Court spokesman.

Wished to Make Wife Happy.

The man didn't understand and was dazed at the laughter of the policemen and hovering lawyers. He went on to tell how he had promised his wife to take her to the big show, and how they had talked and planned for it for weeks. He said, delicately, that in her condition he wanted to make her happy, and, no matter what the sacrifice, give her the little pleasure she longed for.

After the purchase of the theatre-tickets they had climbed high into the gallery and taken their seats before they realized that they were in the wrong place. For a few minutes they looked down dully into the auditorium, and when they realized that an error had cheated them of a pleasure long treasured in anticipation they both began to weep. They are of the peasant people of the plains of Russia and their sorrow was like the sorrow of childhood.

The man told his weeping wife down the precipitous stairway, and hand in hand they returned to the entrance.

The man tried to explain the mistake, but the box-office man would not listen to him. The ticket collector at the door had taken up their purse-strings. When the man explained, the box-office hands began to gesticulate, white lips were sopped desolately. They were blocking the line to the window and Street Officer Curran commanded them to move along. And Curran, gruffly, said: "The hell you think he was going to do?"

Gagged Crime to Station.

He was a simpleton, you will say, and his wife a simpleton, too. But they were innocent, and the police made a charge of disorderly conduct.

They are now separated, and when no one can be found to take care of the girl, the man has given up his job and is working at a small shop on the deck under the speckled eaves. The woman doesn't want to add to the charge. She is very simple, it is true, but she is a good girl.

She is a simpleton, you will say, and her husband is a simpleton, too. But they were innocent, and the police made a charge of disorderly conduct.

The box-office hands are gone now,

NORDICA REFUSES TO SING BY SEA.

Declines Engagement in Atlantic City at Last Moment and Disappoints.

ATLANTIC CITY, April 12.—Miss Lillian Nordica cancelled an engagement here last night, being detained in Chicago. Her manager arrived at a late hour and said that Miss Nordica had refused to come to Atlantic City at the last minute.

The New York Symphony Orchestra arrived and will have to be paid in full. The local managers will lose several hundred dollars by the singer's change of mind.

MARKERT WILL SUE WOODBURY, HE SAYS

Start of Aldermanic Street Cleaning Investigation Put Off Two Days.

The official investigation of the Street Cleaning Department by the Aldermanic Committee will not start until Wednesday next. Then at 10 o'clock William M. Ivins, counsel to the committee, will initiate the proceedings. It was originally intended to begin the investigation on Tuesday, but the weather put it off because of the heating of the oil of Alderman on Tuesday.

The committee will meet in the Aldermanic Chamber and Commissioner Armstrong will call other officials of his department to be called.

Several members of the committee expressed their indignation today over the action of Commissioner George Woodbury, who has been placed in charge of street cleaning by Alderman Markert, the alleged author of the "Know All About That" song. One of the committee today at the City Hall, "and know it is to be trifling. The committee will continue to work and we are unable to do so. He is the father of six children and an invalid wife. I have given shoes to his children. That was merely an act of charity."

"I am an Alderman and a member of the Aldermanic Committee on Street Cleaning, and I will return the favor through the Board of Aldermen. The man is Angelo Angona, of No. 17 Corneille street, Brooklyn."

that he will begin suit for $25,000 damages against the Commissioner.

Markert was arraigned in the Tombs Court to-day and paroled in custody of Dr. James Donnelly, his lawyer, until April 15. Commissioner Woodbury based his charge of attempted bribery solely on this letter, which he received from the Alderman.

March 25, 1906.—I would ask a favor of your Honorable Commissioner for one of my voices in my district. He was employed as a street-sweeper, teamster, and a doctor of the department, told me to return to work, and I was unable to do so. He is the father of six children and an invalid wife. I have given shoes to his children. That was merely an act of charity."

THOUGHT SCHOOLBOY WAS A DYNAMITER.

Fresh Youth Arrested for Throwing Giant Torpedo at Feet of Big Policeman.

John Armstrong, seventeen years old, of No. 229 East One Hundred and Twenty-third street, tried back talk in a cap yesterday and later thought better of it.

Policeman Foley and Hobson, of the One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street station, have been detailed on strike duty at the new school building in One Hundred and Nineteenth street, near St. Nicholas avenue. There have been building strike disturbances there recently, resulting in destruction of property.

Yesterday afternoon Hobson signalled Foley that he was needed around the corner in One Hundred and Twentieth street. Foley came up to disperse a crowd of about forty boys, all of whom skinned except Armstrong.

When the policeman ordered Armstrong to "beat it" the boy told Foley

Most Gigantic Pre-Easter Sale of Misses' Apparel This Big City Has Ever Known.

With the largest and finest stock of Misses' Apparel ever gathered under one roof, we are able to present offerings for to-morrow and Saturday that will completely overshadow anything of the kind that this city has ever known.

Perhaps the most important branch of our Apparel Department has always been that devoted to Misses and Children. We have appreciated the fact that other stores—and particularly "specialty stores"—have a decided leaning toward Women's Garments, since it enables them to operate with a much smaller stock and greater profits. Our method is totally different. Misses' stock here covers a vast area of floor space. We give to it our best thought and attention. It is replete with the choicest products of the world's best makers. And, with this completeness, we are able to present values impossible elsewhere.

Junior Suits, in semi-fitting or box effects, double-breasted coat, notched collar or collarless effect, velvet trimmed; skirt full pleated, with detachable suspenders; new check material. SPEECHLESS... 10.95

Misses' Eton Suits, with shawl collar of velvet and silk, gray homespun and shadow plaid materials; new shape skirt; the trimmings are in rose, blue and green; the prettiest suit of the year; finely tailored; value $14.75.
